

SWITCH AMONG MULTIPLE VIDEO AND AUDIO OUTPUTS

What is CamSwitcher App

CamSwitcher App is an ACAP application running on your camera. It can switch between up to five AXIS network cameras and video clips saved on the camera's SD card. Choose master audio and generate a single output video stream in real-time.

How CamSwitcher App works

CamSwitcher App runs on your IP camera without any extra hardware required. The app fetches RTSP video streams from the connected cameras and switches between them. Additionally, you can add audio and video clips stored on an SD card.

FEATURES

The application combines feeds from multiple cameras into a single live stream. You can also combine live feed with prerecorded clips to create a playlist that will automatically switch between the outputs in a loop. In addition to automated playlists, you can also switch between the outputs manually or program the switches via an API command

SPECIFICATIONS

CamSwitcher App must be installed on a camera with an ARTPEC-6 processor or higher. The rest of the cameras used as additional video and audio sources require at least an ARTPEC-5 chipset with the main H.264 profile. You'll also need a CamStreamer App to stream your video on a streaming platform of your choice.

SOLUTION

With CamSwitcher App, you can create dynamic and engaging live streams utilizing multiple cameras and prerecorded video clips. It's a versatile application that can be used in many different scenarios ranging from sports events to 24/7 live streams from locations with a set schedule such as zoos, tourist attractions, etc.
